You Have a Problem

Writing and publishing a book is not easy, and the deck is stacked against you.

According to The New York Times, 81 percent of people say they have a book in them. They believe they have something important to share with the world. But—big surprise!—they never write it.

Why?

Because the idea of writing and publishing a book is OVERWHELMING. Most don't even know where to start. And for those few who choose to jump in and give it a try, they're often met with roadblocks, confusion, and rejection at every turn.

In fact, the majority of first-time authors who submit a book to an agent or publisher are immediately rejected. Of those who survive the cut, the average author who publishes with a traditional publishing house sells less than 3,000 copies. Authors who choose to self-publish, sell less than 200 copies.

Has food become more about frustration than fulfillment? The New York Times bestselling book Made to Crave is the missing link between a woman's desire to be healthy and the spiritual empowerment necessary to make that happen. Author Lysa TerKeurst personally understands the battle that women face. In Made to Crave, she will help you:

- Break the cycle of "I'll start again on Monday," and feel good about yourself today.
- Stop agonizing over numbers on the scale and make peace with your body.
- Replace rationalization that leads to diet failure with wisdom that leads to victory.

Are you tired of writing words nobody reads? Frustrated with not having the audience your writing deserves?

Let's face it: The world's best writers aren't always the most popular ones. And if this bugs you as much as it should, then it probably means you have good taste.

But frustration is not enough. You need to do more than get mad. You need to take responsibility. You need to take action.

It's time you found your tribe.

remembered the Podcast Answer Man,

Cliff Ravenscraft. You don't need my help Cliff can help you. He's the go-to guy. I strongly endorse Cliff's work and if you want to get a podcast up and off the ground, Cliff's a great resource.

Oh, and I have no ulterior motives to recommend Cliff. I just asked who was the go-to guy to answer this or that about podcasting these days, and Lynette Young reminded me that duh, Cliff's the guy to ask about this stuff.

Have at it.
