HOW TO USE THIS PILLAR CONTENT PLANNER

This planner is designed to help you plan and create daily emails for an entire year — these will serve as “pillar content” you can use to create ALL of your “microcontent,” or attention-getting short-form content to post on Social Media and other platforms.

Part One contains content plans and email prompts you can choose from, depending on whether you have a business that follows a “launch” model or a business with products available year-round. At the end of Part One, you will see a suggestion of what to do if your business has both year-round products and launches.

Part Two of this planner is where you’ll create your content plan. You’ll find monthly calendars you can fill out for the entire year, as well as some seasonal prompts you can add into the mix.

All of the prompts in this planner can be used exactly as they are, or as idea-generators to get you started. If you have another idea that works better for your daily email - feel free to modify!

Note: As you read through the content plans, you will find that some prompts are repeated — this is not by accident. Some prompts contain powerful persuasion tools that can be used over and over. Just answer the question with a new story, an additional benefit, or a different case study each time.

What if you don’t have enough reviews or case studies to fill out all the prompts?

I have a couple suggestions in this situation.

- (1) Make sure you are asking for reviews and stories regularly from your purchasers. You may want to set up an automatic email that goes out after someone purchases, giving them enough time to try your product or service first, and then asking them to leave a review or share their experience.
- (2) You can use the reviews or case studies you have more than once throughout the year. Just make sure to focus on a different benefit or angle, or tell the story in a different way. For example, you could vary the length of the story, focus on a different outcome or benefit the customer mentioned, or you could retell a story in your own words vs. sharing a quote from the customer.
- (3) If you still can’t come up with enough reviews or case studies, you could see what people are saying out there on the internet about your topic, especially influencers or “famous” people. You don’t want to say they used your specific product if they haven’t, but for example, if you sell glow-in-the-dark shoelaces, you could say “George Clooney’s life was changed when he tried glow-in-the-dark shoelaces. He recommends them to everyone who has ever lost their shoes in a dark room.” (Of course, you would only want to say this if George Clooney actually said those things.)

Now, on to the good stuff... Here are the content plans!

Part 1

“LAUNCH MODEL” CONTENT PLAN

This is a general email plan for businesses who use a “launch model,” with a cart-open and cart-close. This is based on four launches a year, and you can use these for your own products or modify them for someone else’s products if you do affiliate launches.

EX.

1. NURTURE MONTH A
2. PRE-LAUNCH MONTH A
3. LAUNCH MONTH A
4. NURTURE MONTH B
5. PRE-LAUNCH MONTH B
6. LAUNCH MONTH B

7. NURTURE MONTH C
8. PRE-LAUNCH MONTH C
9. LAUNCH MONTH C
10. NURTURE MONTH D
11. PRE-LAUNCH MONTH D
12. LAUNCH MONTH D

Feel free to move prompts around if your open cart window is longer or shorter than the ones below. Also, see the third content plan or “Combined” Content Plan for how to modify this plan if you have fewer than four launches a year, or you also sell year-round products.

“YEAR ROUND SALES” CONTENT PLAN

► A note about calls-to-action in the “Year Round Sales” Content Plan:

Be sure to include something to click in each and every email. Occasionally, you may be sending them to an article, video, or outside content or having them click to take a survey. If not, your call-to-action should take them to your product page to buy. You can use a stronger Call-to-action with a large button they can click, or include a softer call-to-action in your P.S. If you are an ecommerce business, I would recommend creating a header with a “Shop Now” button, so they can always head to your store to purchase (even if there is a different call to action in that particular email).

- 26 The top 5 things people don't realize about [your topic]. (or 5 misconceptions). Use these five points to address objections or point out benefits. (Top 5 Email)

Part 1

“COMBINED” CONTENT PLAN

If you have products that you offer year round in addition to doing launches, you may want to use a combination of the above plans. Here's an example, for a business with two launches per year.

EX.

1. YEAR-ROUND MONTH A
2. PRE-LAUNCH MONTH A
3. LAUNCH MONTH A
4. YEAR-ROUND MONTH D
5. YEAR-ROUND MONTH E
6. YEAR-ROUND MONTH F

7. YEAR-ROUND MONTH G
8. PRE-LAUNCH MONTH B
9. LAUNCH MONTH B
10. YEAR-ROUND MONTH J
11. YEAR-ROUND MONTH K
12. YEAR-ROUND MONTH L

You can modify this plan based on how many launches you have per year. Just keep in mind, when you combine the year round and launch plans, you may end up with prompts that are repeated multiple times. If this happens, feel free to sub out some of the repeated prompts for other unused prompts from the plans above.

- STEP 1 ➤ At the top of each month, write which month you are using from the content plans above. “Nurture Month A,” “Year-Round Month E,” etc. (Hint: Start by placing any launches on the appropriate months, then filling in the rest)
- STEP 2 ➤ Block out any holidays, seasonal topics, or promotion days for the month.
- STEP 3 ➤ Fill in the rest of the month with email topics for each day from the template (You can just write the topic # on each day). If you have extra topics leftover, you can choose which ones to leave out, or let them flow into the next month.
